“ Hi dad! It's moms 88th birthday today and I want you to give her a hug and a kiss from me until I can do it myself some day. I often think of all the things you both did for me over the years. Sons never say enough thank yous for all of their parents sacrifices. You both always did your best for me and I love you both so very much for that. I guess I never hugged you enough to say thanks-- maybe some day I can make up for that. Love, Gary 3-9-2015

“ Hello DAD! Today would be your 91st birthday 12-23-1923 to 12-23-2014. Seems like only days ago we were sharing cake after you blew out the candles. The years are passing ever faster it seems - i send my love to you and mom and hoping you are sharing your birthday together. Maybe someday i will have another piece of cake with you both. ALL my love as always.....Gary. 12-23-2014

“ Hello again, Dad! It's been over three years now but it's still hard to not have you here. I am happy you and mom are now together and enjoying eternity as I imagine it to be. I know mom is happy to be with you again-- just what she wanted from the moment you left her. With time, I hope to be there too. You and mom and the poodles Sherman, Sandy and Randy and Rusty, the cat can all give me the hugs and kisses I so deseperately need. your son, Gary.

“ Hi dad. It's almost two years since you left mom and me and it's still very hard to deal with the loss. I know you are watching over us and wishing you could give us love and advice, but you gave us so much when you were here that we are muddling through life til we see you again. Mom misses you so very much and is ready to see you, to hold you, to be by your side and will only be happy again when that moment comes. I don't want her to go but she needs the peace it will bring. I will follow if i'm allowed the time to settle the little matters left behind. I miss you so very much...all my ---all of our --- love until that time comes. a tear, a kiss and a smile until then. your son, Gary.

Mom, Dianna Patterson, had a stroke in 2008. Arlene and I (her daughters) shared that Charles Richard had passed away with her tonight. It brought tears to her eyes. She said to tell all of you, she loved you and all of you are in her prayers. She said, she is also sorry for your loss, he will definately be missed.
