“ So so sorry for your loss, Went to school with Cheryl, she seem to always be smiling. Last time I saw her was at the city park , Last Blast Dance, and she hadn't changed a bit, still smiling, spoke with her a few moments, talking about getting old. RIP Cheryl gone to soon and to young!

“ Oh my where do I begin? We first met years ago when she wanted to rent for me ended up running for May for five or six years. I learned to love this girl. We had more laughs together than anyone I can think of. She was beautiful inside and out, she called me her second mama and I called her my second daughter I was so miss talking to her and miss the laughs we had together. May God rest her soul.
