“ I remember playing Aggravation with Grandma and my sister when I was a kid, and she would get a very concentrated look on her face- she took it very seriously. It paid off because she would always always win, and then she would laugh as she won. I also remember she had the strongest faith. I'm glad she is no longer in pain and can be free of her earthly troubles. Love you Grandma.

“ Grandma, oh grandma where to begin? The hot summer vacations spending time with you. The times in the kitchen, and having a blast with you during VBS. Going to yard sales with you finding the best bargains that we could. Just hearing you pray for everyone at the dinner table. You never made an enemy. I love you so much, until I can hold you in my arms.. I'll hold you in my heart. ❤️

“ I remember Grandma’s laugh (I can still hear it!) when she would play Aggravation and Rummy and she would win. And the time when we ate so much homemade ice cream that we felt sick but couldn’t help but laugh anyway. I remember kneeling next to her by her bed when we were little and listening to her pray for all of us. I remember sitting on her lap and listening to her sing me to sleep. I remember watching her cook and I loved eating her spaghetti and lettuce. There are many more wonderful memories. She has left a legacy to us all of love and care and I know we will see her again someday in Heaven.
