“ Aunt Hattie was a very special lady! She always stayed in touch with our family even though we moved to different parts of the country. I cherish the Wallace genealogy she put together many years ago. Our love to Billy and Tom and their families.

Thanks for your thoughts, Gloria. I was reading the genealogy that you speak of just the other day, and it really emphasizes the importance of geography and place. I have many memories of Grandma Hattie telling stories about family members in Michigan (her brothers) and other places. She was interested in the well being of a much larger community than just her immediate one. That kind of care and compassion came naturally to her.

“ My grandmother, Hattie Viola, had spirit and grit and beauty and lived to find happiness in the most unusual of places. As my sister says, she was "a strong woman who was able to uncover the lightness in the midst of life's heaviest conditions." Grandma Hattie went about life with a certain freedom; she was carefree and full of laughter. This is what I will try to look for in my own life: to live more freely.
