“ Jess, taught me so many things growing up, through his letters and many pearls of wisdom as he called them. I was just 9 years old when I found my chosen grandpa in life. I remember going to what then were wed dinners with bruce, doug, & jess @ Buhler's. That's where we met, through my mom. I'd go in and eat with them most weeks.

He once took me on a trip to the wilds! & we ate dinner and then we ended up at a car lot where 'i' picked out the truck that he bought. I'm sure he knew that was the one he was going to purchase, but being that young he had me believe I picked it for him. & he still always told me thers that truck u picked out for me.

With his word of wisdom he has guided me through life. & as I re read them,he continues to guide me. Being older now I take new things from his letters.its something I'll cherish forever. I was very lucky to be his chosen 'lil Termite' as he called me.I notice that as I think of him now, a smile appears on My face.

“ We were so blessed to have him in our lives. His daily emails were the highlight of the day. His humor was an inspiration to us all, that life was to be enjoyed. He will be missed but carried in our hearts forever.

“ Jesse and I were quite the team back in 1999 as we spent many hours talking to kids about tobacco dangers. Those were such inspiring moments. Over the years Jesse taught me much about friendship, family and caring. He will be missed by many people. Rest in peace my old friend.

I first met Jesse through Becky Wheeler during Tar Wars. Jesse was a very nice man. He was a very generous man and sponsored many events for COPERS and Relay For Life. Jesse will be greatly missed and was very fortunate to have Nancy and Marsha in his life.

Lee was one of a special group of neighbors we met over the years. He, his brother Bruce and Doug were inseparable and unique. Lee was the last of the trio and his memory will always be with us as we pass over the hills of Guernsey county. He was quite an exceptional person who we will miss tremendously. Randy and Melanie
