“ Darling Gus it has been one of the longest honeymoons on record, but still too short. You left a big hole went you went. You back at home again until we both can be put under the sod together.

“ To a wonderful Step-Mom that was taken from us to early. However I am glad she is no longer in pain!!
She will greatly be missed but she will always walk among us.
We are very happy to have seen her one last time in September of this year. It was very important that she was able to meet her Grandson Massimo.
We love and miss you very much!!##imported-begin##Mariko Arrigoni##imported-end## “ Mom was a force of nature. I remember when mom and I would sit out and watch the stars at night. One night we got to see a shooting star. As I made my wish I looked up at saw mom looking back. I ask her what she wished and without flinching said,

" I got my wish, God gave me you."

Mom taught me how to be strong, how to think with my heart, and look with my head. She would make it a point to smile and laugh everyday. She always defended me even when she knew I was wrong. Mom was my hero, and my friend. But mom gave us all her love.

I will miss her everyday and I will thank her everyday for everything she taught me. Thank you mom for being my hero, my friend, and for being the best mom I could ever have. Thank you for giving me life, I wouldn't change a single day. I will always love and miss you.
Forever loved,

Ian B. Willis

“ I worked with Linda in 1976 as a brand new RN graduate on the evening shift. I remember her patience, joy for nursing, and caring way she managed the unit as a charge nurse as well as her work with individual patients. I pray for her family but rejoice in her return home.##imported-begin##cindy costanzo##imported-end##

“ My mother-in-law

*How do you say goodbye to a mother- inlaw that was oh so dear
i shall gather all my courage and with all my strength
i shall say a quick goodbye and quickly leave in case i should start to cry.
For i never knew a woman quite like you one that strove to make others dreams come true.
i cannot bear the sadness that i feel because unlike a fairytale this life is real and even though i must give you up as you well know you will forever be within my heart.##imported-“ Linda is the kind of friend that every woman needs. A cup of coffee shared with Linda is a celebration in Life.

I write of Linda in the present tense because of all the lives she has touched.
All those people carry a bit of Linda with them and she lives on…###imported-begin##Betty Jo Dent###imported-end##
