Seems so long ago but yet only yesterday.. What a beautiful, talented and gifted person.. “ Marilyn was my first piano teacher when I was 8-12 years old. I loved watching her play, and how her long polished nails clicked on the keys. Every week she would write little encouraging words in my workbook, and let me pick out a sticker. I'm 44 years old now, and still think of her whenever I'm trying to learn a new song. What an impact she had in my life! She will be missed.

“ Marilyn was my neighbor for several years and I wouldn't have had it any other way. I loved helping her when I could because she genuinely appreciated others and was the sweetest lady. I have missed her dearly since I moved away and I will always remember her and Frank and the hill we lived on. I'm sorry for your loss.
