“ Uncle Dick was a mainstay in my childhood growing up. It was always great to visit Grandma Hall and sit on the porch with her and Uncle Dick and Aunt Margaret. I learned so much about life from those experiences - and during storms learned alot about the Cambridge sewer system on Steward Ave. He was always there and could make anyone laugh at any time. In the most somber of times I could count on him to put a smile on my face. I loved him and I will miss him but his memory will always be with me - although it may cost me a quarter! Godspeed Uncle Dick!

“ My name is Harold Russell, I believe that I lived just a couple houses from Richard and Robert when I was growing up. I was only about 10 which made Richard younger than me, but me and Robert (Jack) used to play together all the time. I have found memories of them and hope that God will Bless your family and watch over you all. I am sorry for your loss. You are in my prayers.
