“ I enjoyed classes with Dr. Orndoff at Southampton College '73- 74- '75. He was perhaps one of the finest educators I'd ever known. He was fun, fair and knew how to throw a great party

“ Bob Orndoff was a friend and mentor. He gave me my final exam in Neurology over a beer at the local pub in Southampton NY, where he taught Physiological Psychology and Neurology at Southampton College in the 1970s. I can credit him with my choosing Neuroscience as my career.

“ I took good care of your dog Watson till the end. I know you loved him. Hopefully you are together again. He was a beautiful boy and he was very happy with me. I am crushed that he died. I wanted to arrange visits with you and Watson, but, you know, all that Hippa junk, prevented me from doing so. I loved your dog and wanted you to know he was so well spoiled after you had to give him up. Wish I would have met you and wish Watson could have visited you again. I was willing to make the trip for you both to visit. I loved your dog to the moon, just wanted you to know.

“ As a young man my father and I had many happy and memorable days and nights on our houseboat at Seneca Lake. My favorite moments were when Bob would page my dad from the marina payphone to say he was on shore. If my day had been bored in any way I knew that doldrum was over. Above all his entertaining qualities were the tales of his worldly adventures and the way in which they were told.... Give my regards to Jane Goodall

“ Bob was first a family friend beginning with being a boy scout coming to my family home with mom being a troop leader - and on through the years always a friend - a great listener, writer and musician - many memories. Sorry to hear of his passing.

“ Dr. Orndoff and I had many conversations about psychology and other thoughts. He also wrote me a recommendation to get into graduate school. I am sure this helped to gain me entrance. The last time I saw him was at the blues festival in Marietta we discussed private practice and medicare and medicade billing. He was always approachable and treated everyone as an equal. I am sure he will be missed. I hope his family will be comforted by knowing he will me also missed by many.
